Service Overview

As the oncology drug pipeline continues to deliver innovative and costly therapies, payers and other health care stakeholders continue to seek strategies that increase quality of care and ensure appropriate utilization. HIRC's Managed Oncology Service examines issues in oncology medication management and distribution to assist pharmaceutical firms in developing and maintaining successful market access strategies.

HIRC utilizes a triangulated research design, combining primary survey data, interview insights, and in-depth secondary research, resulting in a deep understanding of issues related to oncology medication market access.

Comprehensive Approach to Managed Markets Access

The service assesses, tracks, and benchmarks how health system stakeholders address the management and distribution of oncology medications across market segments. Commercial and Medicare Advantage health plans are examined, with a focus on strategic imperatives and developing management trends. Oncology provider segments are also analyzed to assess key market issues and the reimbursement environment.

Bringing Value to Subscribers

HIRC's data and insights enable subscribers to understand and track market dynamics and trends critical to optimal product positioning as the managed oncology market evolves.

Through detailed analyses, key implications, and strategic recommendations from experienced HIRC researchers, subscribers to the Managed Oncology Service are able to identify potential opportunities for partnerships and evaluate account management strategies to effectively support the oncology-specific needs of managed care.
